Zoomlion is engaged in researching and manufacturing the key machineries for national emphasis infrastructure construction such as construction projects, energy source projects, transportation projects, and others. The registered capital of the company is 760.5 million RMB, total assets is over 8 billion RMB both, and total employees number more than 13000.

In commenting on the new Zoomlion-GGS agreement, Mr. Liu Quan, vice president and a member of the board of Zoomlion said, "We wish that our partnership with GGS marks a great prosperous future for Zoomlion." In addition, Mr. Gu Peng, Export Director of Zoomlion America added, "I trust that Zoomlion's aftermarket services and technical information services will become real world-class by the help of the leading technical publication services solution provider, GGS."

In 2006, Zoomlion ranked 24th in global construction machinery manufacturers and first in profit-making of China construction machinery manufacturers. Zoomlion ranks at the very top in terms of comprehensive performance among public companies active on both the Shanghai and Shenzhen stock exchange. In addition, Zoomlion is ranked as one of the Chinese Top 500 Enterprises, Chinese Top 100 Machinery Manufacturers and Chinese Top 10 Independent Innovation Enterprises.

"We at GGS Technical Publication Services warmly welcome our new customer Zoomlion Heavy Industry Science & Technology Development Co., Ltd.," noted Carl Fraser, Chief Operating Officer and Vice President of GGS. "As they expand their reach worldwide, we look forward to a new relationship which we hope will further their continued success," he added.

Zoomlion selected GGS as its partner for technical publication information, following its search for a provider focused on the satisfaction of overseas users, as well as a firm dedicated to the quality standards of ISO9001 and environmental (ISO14001) and occupational health and safety (OHSAS18001) standards as called out in International Industry Standards.
